Goddard 1997 shows that all of the phonological contrasts of Unami were retained in the pidgin: long and short obstruents p, t, č, k, s, š, x; h, n, l, y, and vowels i,i·, e, e·, ə, ə·, a, a·, ɔ, ɔ·, o·, and u. Clusters are often simplified, however, and initial unstressed syllables omitted: pack 'weep' for Southern Unami ləpákw 'he weeps'.
